Faraway Bay's Bush Tucker and Camp Oven Cooking Schools set for June and August

Faraway Bay is staging two Bush Tucker and Camp Oven Cooking Schools, June 22- 26 and August 2- 6, 2010.

The Cooking Schools provide guests with a unique opportunity to learn more about the gourmet delights hidden within the pristine Kimberley wilderness.

Faraway Bay owner Bruce Ellison said the Bush Tucker Cooking School is back by popular demand.

"Guests love being introduced to something unique, such as the local bush-tucker in this fantastic area," said Mr Ellison.

"We take groups on guided bush walks where they can find all sorts of ingredients like native lemon grass, bush passionfruit and rock figs," he said.

"Boabs, kangaroo and a huge array of freshly caught fish will also be on the menu."

Led by Faraway Bay's guides and resident chef, guests bring their bounty of bush foods back to the camp where they're then provided with cooking lessons.

Much of the cooking takes place on the camp oven over an open fire.

The Bush Tucker and Camp Oven Cooking Schools take place in the open-air Eagle Lodge, perched on a headland overlooking the tranquil waters of Faraway Bay.

With no walls, Eagle Lodge is ideally suited to the climate and the spectacular setting which combines cooking and dining, lounging, croc-spotting and day dreaming, all in one dramatic location.

The program offers a delicious combination of activity and relaxation. The laid back and informal flavour allows guests to be as hands on as they please. There's also plenty of time for excursions and activities including boating to the magnificent twin falls on the King George River, fishing and exploring ancient rock art.

The Bush Tucker and Camp Oven Cooking Schools compliment the famous Faraway Bay Kimberley Cooking Schools led by Perth chef Chris Taylor in May, as well as the Pete Evans Celebrity Cooking School staged annually in September.

The Bush Tucker and Camp Oven Cooking School consists of a four-day all-inclusive experience for 12 guests. The package covers air transfers from Kununurra, the cooking school and all activities, as well as meals and beverages.

Prices start from $4,550 per person and places are strictly limited. For more information about this most unique cooking experience, contact Faraway Bay ph 08 9169 1214 email farawaybay@bigpond.com.
