Exclusive Faraway Bay, The Bush Camp available for corporate retreats

The award winning Faraway Bay, The Bush Camp has opened its doors to the meetings, incentives, conventions and exhibitions market.

Located in the remote east Kimberley region, Faraway Bay offers corporations a truly unique wilderness escape, unlike any other in Australia.

Owner Bruce Ellison said the property was available as a private and exclusive business meeting, incentive or workshop venue.

“Faraway Bay is about as far from the city as you can get, making it the perfect environment to work on team building, or reward staff with a unique wilderness experience,” said Mr Ellison.

“Team-building enters another dimension in this inspirational environment,” he said.

“At Faraway Bay, simplicity is exemplified, survival really is a daily issue and creatively – well, the outer Milky Way is the limit!”

For a single full camp booking Faraway Bay can accommodate up to 16 visitors.

The wilderness camp recently won a coveted Australian Tourism Award, taking out the category of Unique Accommodation.

It's the second time Faraway Bay has won the national title for Unique Accommodation, also collecting the trophy in 2004.

Faraway Bay, The Bush Camp Background

Faraway Bay, The Bush Camp is nestled on a rocky hilltop overlooking the Timor Sea, in the remote Kimberley Region.

Activities for guests include bushwalks to see ancient rock art sites, daily fishing trips, wildlife viewing including plenty of birdlife, swimming in pristine water holes, cruising to the spectacular twin falls on the King George River, star gazing, swimming, beach combing, and day dreaming.

Open air Eagle Lodge and exclusive cabins offer 180 degree views of the wilderness.
